

Crop Budgets

As we come closer to the year end, I'm sure there has been some thoughts about cropping plans for next year. There is a spreadsheet on NDSU's website that is very helpful. It lets you enter inputs such as seed, chemical, drying, machinery, labor, etc. It also lets you enter in the price/bushel for each of these crops. This can be a very helpful tool and give you an idea of what certain crops will cost on your farm.

Here is the link:

Once you click on the link you will then want to select the East Central North Dakota Spreadsheet. From there you can click on any one of the crop tabs at the bottom of the spreadsheet.
